Good afternoon,

While working on some pole relocations on Bullis Rd for an upcoming NYSEG project I noticed some markers that I believe designate a water main's location in the right of way.

Would I be able to be provided the information on where exactly the water main is in the right of way and where the road crossings are? It appears that there are at least two road crossings including at the intersection of Bullis Rd and N Blossom Rd.

My apologies if this is not the correct avenue to go down for this information, I have been searching through the ECWA website trying to find any leads but haven't been able to gather anything.

Best,
Zach
